

Dear Gifted English II students,

In order to prepare you for the study of literature in my gifted English I class, you are required to complete a summer reading assignment. In an effort to make summer reading more enjoyable, I am limiting the reading to just one book, Things Fall Apart by Chinua Achebe. In order to receive credit for the summer reading, on the first day of class you must bring me your annotated copy of the book; annotations may be done either with sticky notes or direct writing in the book. In addition, on the first day in class, you will have forty minutes to write an analysis essay on this book. This essay will prepare you for future Advanced Placement tests. I took into consideration the need for students to have a break and tried to respect that need while still providing a meaningful way for students to continue to practice their reading and analysis skills.

In addition to this book, you may obtain the following books, which we will read throughout the semester:

- The Jungle by Upton Sinclair
- Pride and Prejudice by Jane Austen
- Wuthering Heights by Emily Brönte
- We will also be reading Life of Pi by Yann Martel and The Immortal Life of Henrietta Lacks by Rebecca Skloot, both of which will be provided by the library.

I am not worried about the addition or the publisher. In addition to these books, you will need:

- A three-ring binder
- 1 pack of index cards
- Highlighters
- Pencils/Pens (I do not care as to color of ink)
- Sticky notes (if this is your preferred way to annotate your books)

If you have any questions or concerns, do not hesitate to email me at dniezak@stcharles.k12.la.us. The assignment can also be found on the Google Classroom website. I check my email fairly often over the summer, so I will respond as quickly as I can.

Thank you and have a great summer,
